DETAILED ACTION

This is a response to the RCE filed 7/25/2005. Claims 1-13 and 15-16 are pending and are under examination.

Specification

1. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: page 4, under the Brief Description of the Drawings, "figure 2 illustrates" is incorrect. The drawings show figures 2a to 2c. It is suggested to change "figure 2" to --figures 2a-2c--.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-13 and 15-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hesson (USP 5,165,046), prior art of record.

Figure 4 of Hesson shows an output buffer having crowbar current eliminated comprising a plurality of multiplexer circuits (41, 42), common input node (IN), an upper output node (output of the inverter 46), lower output node (output of the inverter 47), wherein the plurality of MUXs are configured to generate output signals upper output node (UOP) and lower output node (LOP) in response to an input signal at the input node such that during an input signal transition at the input node, a control electrode for UOP and the LOP are driven towards opposite voltage supplies (figure 3 or as seen from figure 4, the voltages VDD and VSS are simultaneously applied to the gate of the transistors Q1 and Q2, respectively, when the input signal is at transition) so that the UOP and the LOP are never on simultaneously as called for in claims 1-2, 6-7 and 10-13.

Regarding claim 3, the output signals at UOP and LOP are CMOS compatible output predriver signals.

Regarding claims 4 and 9, the plurality of MUXs are configured as predriver comprising a CMOS UOP predriver and CMOS LOP predriver.

Regarding claims 5, 8 and 15-16, the CMOS UOP predriver 41 controls PMOS Q1, CMOS LOP predriver 42 controls NMOS Q2.
